

MATERIALS CHALLENGES AND CENSORSHIP

- Top 10 Most Challenged Books 2011
<http://www.ala.org/advocacy/top-ten-most-frequently-challenged-books-2011>
Each spring, ALA releases its list of most frequently challenged books that have been reported in the previous year.
- Banned Books Week
<http://www.ala.org/advocacy/banned/bannedbooksweek>
In late September, ALA and partner organizations sponsor a week-long observance of our freedom to read and the threat of censorship.
- Banned Websites Awareness Day
<http://www.ala.org/aasl/advocacy/bwad>
Censorship extends beyond our print collections and AASL is working to increase awareness of restrictions to websites.
- Reporting a Challenge
<http://www.ala.org/advocacy/banned/challengeslibrarymaterials/challengereporting>
Support for challenges—and even possible challenges—is available confidentially from ALA. Even if you do not require support, please report your challenge. Contact information and support materials are available here.
- Pass It On! [pdf file available on ISLMA website]
ISLMA's IF Task Force encourages members to reach out to other school librarians and share information about ALA's "It's Everybody's Job" campaign, using the attached brochure to start the conversation.
- Be Prepared!
<http://www.ala.org/advocacy/banned/challengeslibrarymaterials/essentialpreparation>
Don't be caught by surprise. Have your collection development policy and reconsideration request (i.e., challenge form) available to share.
- What If Forum at University of Wisconsin's Cooperative Children's Book Center
<http://www.education.wisc.edu/ccbc/freedom/whatif/default.asp>
The scenarios presented here will help librarians anticipate and address common intellectual freedom concerns.

ACCESS AND DIVERSITY Position Statements:

- “Access to Resources and Services in the School Library Media Program: An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights” (ALA)
<http://www.ala.org/advocacy/intfreedom/librarybill/interpretations/accessresources>
How does the school setting impact the rights of library users?
- “Access to Library Resources and Services Regardless of Sex, Gender Identity, or Sexual Orientation: An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights” (ALA)
<http://www.ala.org/advocacy/intfreedom/librarybill/interpretations/accesslibrary>
  - “Confidentiality of Library Records” (AASL)
<http://www.ala.org/aasl/aaslissues/positionstatements/conflibrecds>
Do you use open holds or send open library notices through a third party? It may be time to reconsider patron privacy.
- “Labeling in School Libraries” (AASL)
<http://www.ala.org/aasl/aaslissues/positionstatements/labeling>
With increased focus on standardized testing and reading by level, this statement is a useful reminder of the essence of library organization.
- “Language Rights in the 21st Century” (Reforma)
<http://reforma.membershipsoftware.org/content.asp?pl=51&sl=8&contentid=65>
Reforma is a strong voice for the rights of Spanish language readers and speakers.
- “Position Statement on Flexible Scheduling” (AASL)
<http://www.ala.org/aasl/aaslissues/positionstatements/flexsched>
Every librarian should have this statement ready to share with administrators and decision makers within their schools.
